New in auxiliaries

Among the product ranges offered by Moretto, the mini-dryer Dry Air is a technology that consists of four compact models, each provided with its own hopper.

The Dry Air unit is a double tower dehumidifier for small production suitable for technical products of small size, based on the zeolite technology and using self-regenerating double tower. It works by compressed air and allows the manual regulation of the airflow sent to the hopper. The operator chooses the airflow according to the type of plastic and production requested.
