MORETTO P.A. SHOWS IN CHINA ITS TECHNOLOGY “MADE IN ITALY”

In sight, there is a new production plant under the Great Wall of China or in India to win the plastic manufacturers on the emerging markets (Massanzago PD - 21.06.2005) - The Chinese market is experiencing a constant development. And, if in the Far East the sector of plastics is bound to grow, Moretto PA wants to be there. With this target in mind, the leading Italian company in the design and construction of automations for the processing of the plastic materials disembarks in China with its most advanced products aimed at the Far East.

From June 21st to June 24th Moretto P.A. will be present at Chinaplas 2005, the most important exhibition for the Asian market. Under the Great Wall, the Venetian company will show small machines with high efficiency rates, able to develop a major quantity of polymers and making possible a significant number of installations. “Chinese and Asian transformers rely on a low-tonnage productive structure used in the manufacture of technical components. In Guangzhou we will propose our new products launched between the end of 2004 and the beginning of 2005 and bearing the OMS&P mark, a symbol which guarantees high innovation. The feather in our cap will be the Dry Air, very popular indeed in Europe and with great potentialities in the Oriental markets too, like the gravimetric dosing units, the dehumidifying dryers, the Rotopulse dosing systems and the feeding systems”, says Mr. Moretto, Ceo of Moretto PA.

However, Moretto’s attention for the East is not solely commercial. The company is actually considering the opening of a production plant in China in order to ensure a constant presence and a service in tune with the expectations of the Far East. Mr. Moretto confirms: “All machines addressed to the Italian, European and American market will still be manufactured and assembled in the Italian plants. Yet, by opening a production unit in this strategic area, we intend to meet the needs of the local market, which is growing at an exceptionally fast pace; furthermore, we want to give to all our clients who decided to relocate in this area a more efficient service. Only by producing on site can we compete on the time-to-market of the new products and have a proper stock to meet the local demand”.
